TENT SHOW

Kadell-Kritchfield Company
Coming For all Next Week.

An excellent dramatic company will show all next week on the rear lot of the Tabernacle, on West Seventh street. The Elizabethtown News says:

"The Kadell-Kritchfield show, which played a week's engagement in this city during the month of June last year and gave such excellent satisfaction, has again made a week's engagement and will arrive Monday, July 17, and present an entire new program on each night throughout the week. The show does not need any introduction to the public whatever, as its presentations last year speak in loud advertising terms in behalf of it without the use of printers' ink. The program will be entirely different from last year, and as the personnel of the show is made up of good artists, the public may expect a rare treat in the amusement line.

DEATH NEAR FAIRVIEW.

W. H. Hall's Father Victim of Bright's Disease.

James H. Hall died Thursday at his home near Fairview, after a long illness of Bright's disease. He was 63 years old and a member of the Baptist church. Besides his wife he leaves two children one of whom, W. H. Hall, resides in this city. The interment took place in the Darnell burying ground yesterday.

THE KADELL & KRITCHFIELD SHOWS ARE COMING!

Week Beginning Monday, July 17, and containing every evening through the week. Tabernacle Lot, West 7th St.

21 PEOPLE 21

High Class Vaudeville, Singing and Dancing. Entire change of program each night.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Douglas, Ga., 2-25-10.

Having attended the performances given by the Kadell & Kritchfield Shows, playing in our city for the week, it affords me pleasure to bear testimony to the fact that they have one of the cleanest, best and most entertaining shows of its kind that it has been my pleasure to see. The program is clean from start to end. The acts and specialties are all first-class, and any number of the program is worth the price of admission to all.

Having had more or less dealings with the management of the show, I have found them uniformly courteous and gentlemanly. It gives me pleasure to commend these good folks to any community in which they may find themselves.

Very truly,

R. W. PEATROSS, City Clerk.

Commencing Monday Night, July 17.

LANDER REUNION CONDEMNATION

Big Family Gathering To Be Of Land For Street Extension Ordered by Council.

On Wednesday and Thursday of next week there will be a reunion of the Lander family at Salubria Springs, which was recently called by Rev. David Lander, of Florida.

This family is largely represented in Western Kentucky, by descendants of William Lander, a pioneer who came from Virginia. Among the different branches of the family tree represented hereabouts are the following: Geo. W. V. Lander, J. B. Lander and other children and descendants of Wm. B. Lander, Mrs. Pauline G. Lander and descendants of W. J. Lander, Jas. W. Lander and other descendants of Jas. H. Lander, R. S. Lander, Eddyville, and other descendants of Wm. D. Lander.

S. S. Lander, Clarksville, and other descendants of S. S. Lander, Sr.

Albert Lander and other descendants of Geo. W. Lander.

Mrs. Fannie Lander, Gracey, and descendants of Jno. S. Lander.

D. L. Lander and others of the Pembroke vicinity, Thos. S. Lander, or this city; John Lander, Calvert City, Ky. and many others far and near.

The plan is to form some sort of an organization looking to the compilation of a family history. All kindred of the female lines are also urged to attend.

Heyburn Brays Again.

When Senator Heyburn, of Idaho, characterized the Confederacy as an infamous cause in the United States Senate yesterday he brought a stinging rebuke from Senator Williams, of Mississippi.

Prescriptions.

Wouldn't it be a great satisfaction to you to know that the medicine you take is absolutely correct in every way? It's just as great a satisfaction to us to know that every item that leaves our drug store is absolutely right. We are sure of our position when we invite you to bring your prescriptions here for dispensing.

MERELY OBEYED THE RULES

How the Late Tom Johnson, in Early Life, Squirreled Out of Very Tight Place.

When the late Tom Johnson started in life he drove a horse car in Indianapolis.

One night there was a big storm of sleet and snow and the tracks were almost hidden. Johnson was on the night shift, and in the storm he drove his car two blocks beyond a curve before he realized the car was off the tracks and slipping along on the ice.

He tried to pull the car back and failed. Thereupon he unhitched the horses, drove them back to the barn and left the car where it was.

Next day the superintendent called him. "Here, Johnson," he said, "what do you mean by driving a car off the track and then leaving it in the street?"

"Why," Johnson replied, meekly, "that's in the rules for drivers and conductors."

"In the rules for drivers and conductors?" roared the superintendent. "Where, I'd like to know?"

"Certainly," replied Johnson. "It says always to be polite to passengers. Do you remember the kind of a night last night was? Well, there was a lady on my car who didn't have an umbrella and she lived two blocks from that curve. So I drove her home."—Saturday Evening Post.

NOT ALTOGETHER A DEFEAT

Bride Had Made One Reservation She Intended to Live Up To.

A clergyman tells the following story: He was marrying a young couple. All went well until he reached that part of the service where the bride has to say, "I will love, honor and obey."

The first part of the sentence she would say all right, but on reaching the word "obey" she refused to say it, but made some kind of noise very like it.

The clergyman again repeated it, but she still refused to pronounce the word distinctly.

The parson now became rather vexed about this and informed the young lady that unless she said it correctly this time he would refuse to marry them.

The bride, rather crestfallen, again repeated the words, but on coming to the fatal word she again hesitated, but eventually pronounced it distinctly. As they were on the way to the vestry she whispered to the minister, "Well, I shan't shine his shoes."

Making Use of the Rhine.

The German Rhine is commercially the most important stream in the world. It furnishes a most illuminating contrast to the decadent Mississippi.

The United States has expended more money in the twenty years ended in 1907 on the most important stretch of the Mississippi, 206 miles between St. Louis and Cairo, than the German central government has expended in the improvement of the Rhine from Strassburg to the frontier of Holland, a distance of 355 miles.

Yet the amount of tonnage handled on this portion of the Mississippi in 1908 was 374,093 tons, while that on the Rhine in the same year was between 40,000,000 and 45,000,000 tons, an amount from eighty to 100 times as great.—American Review of Reviews.

How It Was Remarkable.

An elderly gentleman of rural appearance had hardly seated himself in the crosstown street car, says Judge, when a young lady who had followed him in approached him.

"Sir, did you lose a five-dollar bill?" she asked.

For a moment the farmer observed her with a surprised, curious look, then said convincingly: "Yes, ma'am, I did."

"Then here it is," said she, handing the bill to him. "I picked it up behind you from the car floor."

"Thank ye very much, young lady, for your honesty. This is a most remarkable happening!"

"Oh, I don't think so, sir! I believe every one should return the money in such a case as this. What is there so remarkable about it?"

"Why, I lost my five-dollar bill two years ago!"

Longevity of Horses.

Gray horses are the longest lived. Creams are usually delicate, and are seriously affected by very warm weather.
